

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

GETTING NEAR ANNOUANCEMENT AT LAST.

A Great Contest in the Senate Yesterday Over the Fire Insurance Bill—The House for Incurable—Other Matters of Interest.

Hartford, July 2.—Although there is considerable business pending there is a disposition to adjourn the legislature sine die to-morrow. Speaker Peasenden said to-day that he had no doubt that tomorrow would end the session of 1895.

There was a great contest in the senate this afternoon over the bill entitled, "Fire Insurance contracts and actions thereon." The bill was unfavorably reported by the committee on insurance, and then the minority, consisting of two members of the committee, reported a substitute which proposed more important changes in the insurance laws of the state than has been attempted in any previous bill this session. The substitute bill is as follows:

Section 1—A breach of any of the terms of a policy by the insured shall not make void the policy of any insurance company doing business in this state, if the loss or damage claimed under such policy shall be found not to have been caused by such breach.

Section 2—The prices fixed upon articles in an inventory used in effecting an insurance shall be prima facie evidence as to the value of such articles in adjusting a loss accruing under said policy of insurance.

Section 3—The company issuing the policy of insurance shall pay the full amount of the loss or damage to the property insured thereby, to the extent of the maximum amount named in the policy; provided, that the policy was not obtained by the fraud of the insured, or the property was not fraudulently damaged or destroyed by the insured, and in the absence of fraud on the part of the insured, or proof of its over valuation, the property insured shall be conclusively presumed to be worth as much as the face of the policy.

Section 4—In case of loss or damage of property insured the party insured shall give notice thereof in writing to an officer or agent of the company issuing the policy, within fifteen days after such loss or damage, and the company shall adjust the loss within fifteen days after the receipt of such notice.

Section 5—If dissatisfied with such adjustment, the party insured may bring his action against said company before any court having jurisdiction, within one year after such adjustment, or of the expiration of the fifteen days after the giving of said notice of loss, and not afterwards.

Section 6—This chapter shall be a part of every contract of insurance to which it is applicable, and no waiver of any part of it shall be pleaded or set up by the insurer, and every stipulation of the contract of insurance in conflict with it shall be void.

Section 7—All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

The bill was called up at the afternoon session, and Senator Marigold moved to substitute the minority report. Senator Fuller, the chairman of the committee on insurance, said that this bill had been carefully heard and the vote stood 7 to 2 in favor of the majority report. He said that to pass the minority report would reverse the insurance policy of the state for a hundred years.

The majority report was also favored by Senators Warner, Coffey and Dayton. The vote to substitute the minority report was 3 in favor and 19 against. The report of the committee was then accepted and the bill rejected. During the debate there was a large attendance in the senate, including ex-Governor Bulkeley and others interested in insurance matters.

A debate of over an hour took place in the house this morning over a motion made by Mr. Roberts of Wethersfield to recall the bill relative to establishment of homes for incurables. The bill was introduced to compel the removal of one of these institutions from the town of Wethersfield. It was explained that the people of the town were willing the institution should locate there and would give a site, but objected to its being located on the principal street of the town.

Both houses had previously rejected the bill. Mr. Judson of Stratford introduced an amendment, excepting the home at Wethersfield from the bill.

The vote on reconsideration was taken and adopted. Mr. Judson then withdrew his amendment and offered a substitute, providing that hereafter no such home shall be located in any town unless with the consent of the selectmen, nor within 500 feet of any residence. This bill shall not affect the "Parsons" home at Wethersfield. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 55 to 84.

Mr. Gunn then offered an amendment striking out the date and substituting the word "indeterminate." The amendment was carried.

The motion to take the final vote by yeas and nays was rejected. The bill as amended was then passed.

ILLEGAL PRACTICES AT ELECTIONS.

A bill entitled an act to suppress corrupt and illegal practices at elections was down on the calendar as the special order at 11 a. m., but the matter was delayed until 2 p. m. The bill was favorably reported by the judiciary committee. There was a prolonged discussion of the bill.

The matter goes over until to-morrow.

SENATE.

The following bill was passed upon its favorable report by the judiciary committee: "In all cases where the assessors of any town have neglected to require persons bringing in written or printed lists of the taxable property belonging to them to sign said lists as required by law, such lists shall not for that cause be adjudged void or defective, but the assessment based thereon are hereby ratified and confirmed and made valid and binding, and all taxes which have been laid and imposed against persons giving in such unadvised lists may be levied and collected in the same manner as if said lists had been duly signed."

The bill exempting all the property of all hospitals receiving state aid from taxation was passed in concurrence.

THE HOUSE.

The house passed the bill permitting the use of the McTammany voting machine in concurrence with the senate.

Representative Clark of Haddam offered a substitute bill providing that any voting machine could be used but that was rejected.

The bill consolidating the town and city of Hartford was also passed in concurrence.

Representative Clark of Haddam explained the bill providing that when the town of Haddam votes license no such license shall be granted in any voting district where the vote was against license. He said that the town usually voted no license.

The rules were suspended and the bill was put on its passage. On a rising vote 63 voted in favor of the bill and 35 against. As the vote showed a lack of a quorum the speaker did not announce the vote on the bill and it remains on the table.

Bills passed: Making an appropriation of $500 for the commissary general for the years '92 and '94. An amendment making the salary $1,000 was rejected; resolution providing that the rank of the brigade signal officer be that of captain instead of major; bill making the pay of the commissary general $600.

Adjourned until Wednesday at 10:30 a. m.

The Case of Rev. Mr. Cooper—Objections by His Attorney of No Avail.

The trial of Rev. Rufus T. Cooper, former pastor of Epworth M. E. church, this city, for alleged indecent assault, was to have taken place in the city court yesterday morning, but owing to the absence of Judge Cable the trial was postponed until Friday.

Several ministers who were present constituted the ecclesiastical committee of the New York East conference. They were as follows:

Rev. W. A. Richards of Hartford, Rev. Elbert Eldridge of Waterbury, Rev. H. E. Wing of Ansonia, Rev. W. H. Barton of Derby, Rev. B. F. Kidder of Shelton, Rev. N. G. Cheney of East Pearl street church, this city, Rev. M. W. Prince of Trinity M. E. church, Rev. C. P. Masden of First church and C. B. Ford of Howard avenue M. E. church. Others in court were Rev. A. S. Kavanaugh of South Norwalk, A. J. Smith of East Norwalk, Rev. Mr. McNeill of Westville, Rev. F. A. Scofield of Grace M. E. church and Presiding Elder Crandall J. North.

Judge Studley was on the bench in the city court yesterday and when the case came up Mr. Matthewsman stated that he would ask to have the matter put over until Friday, as Judge Cable was in Springfield.

Attorney Kleiner objected, stating that one of his witnesses had postponed a trip to Europe until to-day, and that if the case was not tried yesterday it could not be tried for six weeks. This witness was Presiding Elder Crandall J. North.

Ex-Judge Pickett also urged the immediate trial of the case.

Judge Studley stated that it seemed to him like a matter that ought to be disposed of as quickly as possible. He advised the defense to waive examination and take the case up to the superior court immediately.

"We do not wish to do that," stated Mr. Kleiner, "for in doing so we should injure our civil rights in the matter."

Judge Studley then stated that he would let the case go over until Friday.

City Attorney Matthewsman left the court room and the ecclesiastical committee, with the presiding elder and others present, adjourned to the ante-room, where, after a consultation with Mr. Cooper and his counsel, they came out and stated that if the case went over until Friday they should have to ask for a further continuance until September 10. Their appeal to the court was of no avail, however, as Judge Studley refused to alter the decision continuing the case.

The case will come up Friday.

THE LATE HON. ISAAC L. STILES.

A fuller obituary of the prominent North Haven citizen named above is as follows:

The Hon. Isaac L. Stiles died at his home in North Haven, Conn., Monday evening, July 1, after a week's illness. The more immediate cause of his death was heart failure. Mr. Stiles was born June 28, 1828. He came from the old illustrations family of his name in Windham, Conn., his great-grandfather being the Rev. Isaac Stiles, thirty-six years pastor of the Congregational church in North Haven, and his more remote ancestors, Francis and John Stiles of Boston and Windsor, respectively.

Few men reared in small country villages reach the degree of estimation in which he was held, not only by his townsmen, but by a wide and rare circle of friends, attracted by his genial and open-hearted ways. A recent work in speaking of the leading men in New Haven county says, among other things, of him:

"Mr. Stiles was born at a period when industry, good character and sound religious views were insisted upon as requisites of every young person. The first he learned upon his father's brickyard, the second at the family fire-side, and the latter by inheritance from that stubborn though staunch old divine, his great-grandfather. In politics he had always been a pronounced republican. In 1849 he was placed upon the town ticket for selectman and to the surprise of the opposite party was elected, the first whig on that board in many years. He represented the town in the general assembly of 1854, 1884 and 1885, and with such popularity that in 1890, much against his wishes, he was prevailed upon to stand as candidate for senator in the Seventh district, but was defeated by local issues in the Naugatuck valley. His sound judgment, fairness and liberality made his advice sought in a multitude of ways by his townsmen. The exercise of these same qualities in his business relations made his name brought in a wide business circle and brought him financial success."

The development of the brick industry of the town from the sale of a few thousand of crude and rough manufacture in his boyhood to that of the finished production of millions at the present day is largely due to his persistence and attention. At the organization in 1892 of the I. L. Stiles & Son Brick company—a large corporation—he was made its president and remained so at the time of his death.

Mr. Stiles was also one of the foremost supporters of St. John's church from early manhood. Between 1846 and 1884 he was a vestryman, and he was senior warden from 1884 to the time of his death. He was a devout and regular attendant at church, and a sincere communicant. He took a great interest in all church affairs, and especially in the musical portions of the church services. His generosity, his wise counsels, his broad sympathy and his splendid Christian life of righteousness, purity, nobleness, made his example powerful for good. His death is deeply felt, not only in St. John's church, but in all the community. He was "good and faithful," a churchman in whom was no guile.

Mr. Stiles had been twice married—first to Sophronia M. Blakeslee in 1842, and to Mrs. Ellen Rich Dickerman in 1888. Two sons survive him—Isaac W., a prominent dentist in New Haven, and Frank L., vice president and treasurer of the Stiles Brick company. The burial will be attended on Wednesday, July 3, from St. John's church.

UNIONVILLE'S MASONIC HALL.

The Masons of the Town to Build a Ten Thousand Dollar Structure.

Unionville, July 2.—The new Masonic Hall building to be erected here will be a handsome structure and the hall a convenient and pleasant one. The building will be 38 by 86 feet, and contain three stories. The first and second stories will be devoted to tenants and the third floor will be devoted to the Masonic lodge room and a large banquet hall. On this floor there will also be a ladies' parlor, gentlemen's smoking room, kitchen, storerooms and toilet rooms. The Masonic hall will be 27 by 38, the banquet hall being the same size. The banquet hall will be available for public dinners and other amusements, and will be provided with a stage. The ladies' parlor will be 10 by 18 feet, the same dimensions as the gentlemen's smoking room.

The exterior of the building will be very plain and simple, devoid of elaborate ornamentations. It will be a frame building. A piazza will run the whole length of the front.

There will be four tenements in the building, each tenement consisting of a parlor, dining room, kitchen and pantry on the first floor, and three bedrooms, each having a large closet space on the second. The entrance to the lodge room will be between the two middle tenements, and will be finished in ash.

The building will be erected by the Masons of this town. The architect of the building is R. B. Pierce of East Hartford. The cost of the building will be in the vicinity of $10,000.

YESTERDAY MORNING'S FIRE.

Carlton's Printing Office, Pierce's Job Office and a Cap Factory Damaged.

Yesterday morning at about 5:30 a fire broke out in the job printing office of R. G. Carlton on the third floor of the building at 321-325 State street. It was discovered by a man who was walking down Union street. He at first thought that a fire was being started in the office, but going to the Western Union office it was found to be a genuine fire and a still alarm was sent in to steamer 2. The fire had gained a sufficient headway to send in an alarm and the engines were soon on the scene. Lines of hose were put into the building, but the streams were not put on as the chemical engine was found to be sufficient to cope with the flames.

The place was filled with a dense smoke, but the firemen succeeded in putting the fire out without the use of water, thus saving the stock in the stores and offices below.

The fire originated in a bag of waste paper, which was leaning up against the chimney. It is believed that the paper became so heated as to start a fire. The fire reached up to the top story and damaged a cylinder job press, which stood in the corner where the flames did most of their work. Some of the machinery was damaged by water.

The water ran down into Pierce's job office, where it was doing some damage there. Mr. Carlton's loss is several hundred dollars. A room underneath where cloth caps are made was drenched with water and the stock was accordingly damaged. The firemen smashed in the door of the cap factory on arriving, but found that the fire was on the story overhead. Some of the firemen remarked that had the fire had ten minutes more start it would have been a very serious one.

Secretary M. J. Barnes, in his report of the enrollment of the Sunday school of the Grand avenue Baptist church for the quarter ending July 1, states: Enrollment—Officers 5, teachers 41, scholars 234; total, 384. Average attendance 238, collections $49.53, scholars present every Sunday 38, collection on children's Sunday $9.48.
